WINNING A WIDOW.

EVERYBODY WAS AT THE WEDDING EXCEPT MISS BECKETT.

A Story of a Village Courtship from Indiana—The Wedding Existed a Deal of Interest Because the Groom Was an Undertaker, Who Had Married Many.

Undertaker Samuel Pavey and Mrs. Sarah Milliken, who has been known in Aristotle, Ind., for twenty-five years as Aristides or Kill Milliken's widow, were married recently in the presence of every body in this village except old Miss Beckett. Miss Beckett would have been present if she had not left her sickbed last week to call on Mrs. Milliken and inquire into the particulars of the engagement. After this imprudence she had a relapse and has been unable to leave her bed. She was propped up at the window all the forenoon, however, and saw every body that went in or out of church.

Undertaker Pavey has buried all of the dead here for the past sixty years. He is now a tall, thin man, with close cropped white hair and smooth shaven face, and always dresses in black, as becomes an undertaker. Only the oldest citizens can remember when he looked any different from the way he looks now. His wife died forty years ago, and he has kept shy of all maidens and widows ever since. Years ago he was abandoned by the most persistent match maker as a hopeless case.

The widow of Kill Milliken is an estimable lady, a great maker of cakes for the church festivals and clever at crocheting worsted tidies, with a large number of which the chairs and the sofa in her front parlor are adorned. As there has been a good deal of curiosity about her engagement and marriage, she has consented to a public statement. She is a short, fat woman, with hair of a peculiar shade of yellow, which she got by using the hair dye which was advertised extensively in connection with her picture and letter of recommendation. She says that Mr. Pavey had never shown any signs of preference for her whatever, nor had she thought of him as the successor of Kill until ten days before the marriage.

About that time he knocked at her front door at half past 11 in the morning. It was a Wednesday and the Widow Milliken was deep in the dough, as that is baking day through this whole town. She looked out through the blinds of the window next the front door and saw who it was. As she had known Mr. Pavey so many years she just wiped the flour off her hands upon her apron and opened the door.

Mr. Pavey went into the parlor and sat down in the cane seat rocker with the green worsted tidy with blue ribbons through it. He set his tall hat carefully on the floor beside him and then said:

"Good morning, Sarah Milliken." "Good morning, Mr. Pavey," said Mrs. Milliken. She said that she accented the Mr. so that Mr. Pavey might understand that she had noticed his not calling her Mrs. Milliken, as he was accustomed to do. Mrs. Milliken also said that she had a sort of premonition that something was coming.

"It can't be that the Gompers girl is dead?" she said anxiously. "No," said Mr. Pavey. "But life is uncertain, Sarah Milliken."

"No one should know that better than you, Samuel Pavey," said the widow with one of her shy laughs.

But Mr. Pavey did not laugh as he went on:

"Sarah, you are getting along in years. You will soon be in need of my services."

"I haven't even sent for the doctor yet, and I won't need you till he's done with me," said the widow, bridling and pouting.

"Do you remember the first Mrs. Pavey?" said the undertaker, paying no attention to her and pursuing his own gloomy reflections.

"I was a little girl when she died," said Mrs. Milliken.

"Yes," said Mr. Pavey. "You had just married the late Mr. Milliken five years before. You remember that she had the best funeral this town ever saw, not excepting old Captain Landers' funeral, which cost five dollars, as I should know."

ANOTHER LOOK AT A.

Plenty of Evidence in Arizona to Show Where Gold Was Once Found.

The legends of lost mines of fabulous wealth in Pima county are almost numberless, and it might be truthfully added, generally mythical. The old timers can tell of them by the hour, and a few persons have been shown glittering evidences in confirmation of the wonderful tales reluctantly recited with superstitious dread of the consequences of their porphy by almost superannuated Indians and Mexicans.

That the precious metals were mined on a gigantic scale in the dim past the many remaining evidences already discovered fully verify, yet the investigation of those that chance has revealed has seldom proved financially successful. Old armstubs covered with the decay of centuries, and crude smelting furnaces that have almost returned to the dusty destiny of all matter, speak of industries once in active operation that history and even aboriginal tradition fail to mention.

Some of the traditions told sound like fairy tales, and one, however skeptical, cannot but become deeply interested in their recital. As a sample of the highly plausible, well authenticated and extremely seductive narratives, one related by Charles O. Brown, of this city, may be received with interest.

"Speaking of old mines," said Mr. Brown, "I have spent a good deal of time and money in hunting up clues, and one mine was actually found, and I can go to it any time. Out in the Silver Bell country I can take you to a mountain so full of tunnels and shafts that, if they were in good condition, you could travel through all day long and not reach the end."

"A number of old timers have visited it, and, judging from the vast work done there so long ago, they concluded that a great mine of some kind had existed there, which had likely been worked out. Many times has it been located, and though its walls and floor were carefully examined and sampled, the result, while showing some gold, was discouraging, assays showing from a trace up to several dollars per ton."

"Many years ago I talked with an old Papago Indian, with whom I was on very friendly terms, having often extended him little favors, about the gold and silver mines. In a burst of confidence he told me that a great many years ago, when he was a very small boy, the Indians at San Navier del Buo made weekly trips to a very rich gold mine. On Saturday night they returned with the products of their toil. The priest in charge of the mission kept a small table in front of the altar, covered with a white cloth, upon which the pious toilers placed their metallic offerings to the church."

"This table was often covered with golden nuggets, varying in size from a pea to one's fist, and it was a rich sight. After the usual service the priest would descend, and as he picked up each precious piece he would proclaim the name of the donor and after would call them forward to receive the special blessing of heaven. On the following Monday they would again take up their march in a northwesterly direction for the mines, and for a very long time this was repeated, until the priests were driven out of the country, when they abandoned mining entirely."

"The old Indian had one time gone with the miners, who followed a well beaten trail toward the Silver Bell country, and he saw them take out the gold. He agreed to show me the place, and out of curiosity I sent a man with him one day. They went out to the old mine I have spoken of in the Silver Bell country, and when they reached a certain gulch the Indian pointed to the top of the mountain and said he would find a shaft there, covered with cat claw bushes, out of which the most gold was taken. The man found everything just as the old Indian told him, but long disuse had filled up the shaft until it was nearly full."

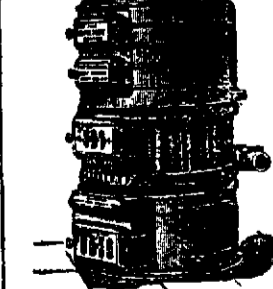

"On returning, the old Indian could not be found. He had gone ahead and was not met for several days. He then said he did not dare to show the mine to the white people, and protested that he did not show it for fear the Great Spirit would take his life. He said the white man had found it, but he did not show it."

"I visited the mine afterward, but the work necessary to clean out the shaft was too great and too expensive to undertake, and it has never been touched."—Arizona Enterprise.

PLAIN TRUTHS AND SOUND ADVICE.

Gov. Thomas Wren of Eureka is among the earnest advocates of free coinage. He is President of the Eureka Silver League, which numbers ninety-five per cent. of the voters of the county. In the Occasional of the 14th instant he sums up the situation as follows:

"The net results of the Republican National Convention just adjourned is the nomination of Harrison for President and Whitelaw Reid, editor and principle proprietor of the New York Tribune, for Vice President, and the adoption of a strong anti-silver plank in a Republican platform. "The hostility of Harrison to silver has been as bitter as was that of Cleveland during his administration, but less manly and courageous, and therefore more dangerous. What Cleveland tried to accomplish against silver by open methods, Harrison has attempted against it by a secret underhand means.

"Whitelaw Reid flouted at the head of the editorial columns of the Tribune for more than a year that despicable lie, 'An eighty-five cent dollar.' He is and always has been one of the most ardent enemies of silver in the United States.

"What may ironically be termed the 'silver plank' in the platform was intended no doubt to catch silver votes, but in fact it squarely commits the Republican party to the repeal of all laws for the sale of silver to the Government and its coinage, until the bond-holders and money-lending millionaires of Europe by agreement pay us forty cents an ounce more for our silver than they have to at present.

"The means by which this result has been brought about does not admit of a doubt. The price of members of the convention probably did not range as high as the prices of men did before the war."

"Cleveland will be nominated at the Chicago Convention by the same means, if the two-thirds rule don't defeat him, and the scheme of the gold bugs will have succeeded so far as the nomination for President by the Democratic and Republican parties are concerned.

"If the Democrats at Chicago shall fail to give us a free coinage candidate on an unequivocal free coinage platform, then there will be nothing left for the people of the silver States to do but to band themselves together and support a ticket of their own."

THE SENSIBLE PLATFORM.

The People's party of Montana assembled in State Convention at Butte City last Thursday. There was a large attendance, and a platform was adopted and a State ticket nominated. The platform declares for free coinage of silver as well as gold in plain language that cannot be interpreted one way in the West and another way in the East. It also favors the election of President of the United States and of United States Senators by direct vote of the people, which is considered by many a much better way than that of choosing electors to vote for a President and members of the Legislature to vote for Senators. This change is advocated by several Republicans and Democrats, and Senator Palmer of Illinois has introduced a resolution to amend the Constitution so that United States Senators can be elected by direct vote of the people. It also favors the restriction of immigration to respectable people who come of their own accord to better their condition. It demands the forfeiture of Northern Pacific land grants in Montana for failure to construct the road within the time specified in the Act making the grant, and it asks the Government to maintain irrigation reservoirs. The Convention elected delegates to the Omaha Convention, where candidates will be nominated for President and Vice President of the United States.

HOW HARRISON WAS NOMINATED.

It is claimed by the Blaine men, who were so ingloriously defeated in the Minneapolis Convention, that the South and office holders nominated Harrison. There were nearly two hundred Federal officials in person or represented by proxy in the convention, every one of whom voted for Harrison. There were also a number of delegates who were under obligations to the officials and therefore voted for Harrison. These, with two hundred and forty-five votes from the Southern States, gave Harrison a decisive majority in the convention. The delegates from the South cared nothing for free coinage, their principal object being spoils, though a large majority of the people of that section are as ardent silver men as there are in the country.

The unanimity with which these delegates supported Harrison has given rise to the saying that the South is solid for a Wall Street candidate in a Republican Convention as it is in Congress for the free coinage of silver.

Roger Q. Mills of Texas resigned the position of Representative in Congress to accept the position of United States Senator from that State. The Democrats nominated E. L. Anthony to fill the vacancy and the People's party nominated I. N. Barber for the position. Dispatches from Corsicana indicate the election of Barber.

The Supreme Court of Michigan, which consists of three Republicans and two Democrats, has declared constitutional the Act of the Legislature providing for the election of Presidential electors by Congressional Districts.

Horse Thieves Stretch Hemp.

NOGALES, Arizona, June 17.—Reports have reached here that the bodies of two horse thieves were found hanging to a tree near Calabazas, ten miles north of Nogales. This is regarded as a starter on the part of settlers to stop the wholesale stock thieving that has been going on for the past month.

CLEVELAND THE FAVORITE.

Louis J. Palmer of Wyoming Against His Father.

HORSE THIEVES STRETCH HEMP.

Indiana for Gray—Another Lone Highwayman—A Murderer Succeeded.

Preparing for the Great Contest.

CHICAGO, June 17.—The unusual spectacle of a son of a Presidential candidate working against his father, was witnessed at the headquarters of the New York delegation to-day. Louis J. Palmer of Wyoming called there and announced himself in favor of Hill. He said: "If my father had been an active candidate I should have been for him, but as he has practically withdrawn and declared for Cleveland that leaves me free to follow my own judgment. I am emphatically opposed to the re-nomination of Cleveland. When he became President he filled Wyoming with carpet baggers and gave all offices to people from the outside. Harrison has done just the contrary and has made himself so strong in the State that if Cleveland is nominated it will be useless for the Democrats to put up a State ticket."

"So it would be in New York," said Crocker, "We have nothing against Cleveland, only the Democrats of New York don't want him. The nomination of Cleveland would simply mean a destruction of the Democratic organization as it now exists in the State of New York."

The delegates elected by the Syracuse Convention will ask recognition as the rightful representatives of the Democracy of New York. There seems to be no difference of opinion among the anti-snap delegates who have thus far arrived, that they must and will do this. Delegates from the city of New York and from Brooklyn are generally in favor of a vigorous protest and will fight to supplant the present organization, but a number of delegates from other parts of the State are opposed to such a contest.

No decision has been reached as to the temporary chairman. The arrival of Carlisle to-day caused a renewal of the talk that Kentucky would present his name for Chairman.

Maryland delegates arrived to-night and announced themselves for Gorman if he will enter the race with Cleveland as second choice of a majority of the delegates. The Boise men to-night opened permanent headquarters.

Cleveland the Favorite.

CHICAGO, June 17.—Many Presidential barks are tossing on the political sea to-night, but Cleveland's hopes seem to loom up ominously above all. Everybody realizes the great question of the convention is, "Will Cleveland be nominated on the first ballot?" Should the question be answered in the negative the friends of the secondary candidates will feel that the lists are then open to their favorites, for somehow the conviction has gone forth that the failure of the ex-President to receive the nomination on the first ballot means the elimination of the great tariff reformer from the contest. This opinion is entertained by all delegations who have favorite sons, but it by no means follows that the correctness of this opinion is correct by the Cleveland managers. They maintain, however, while they believe their man will be nominated on the first ballot that a failure to receive the requisite two-thirds will not be an indication of his subsequent defeat, for they expect important accessions from the followers of Boies Hill and Gray after they have paid a complimentary tribute to their favorite sons. The various Presidential candidates, dark horses and possibilities discussed to-night are Cleveland, Hill and Fowler of New York, Bates and Palmer of Illinois, Gray of Indiana, Gorman of Maryland, Carlisle of Kentucky, Morrison of Illinois, Campbell of Ohio, Russell of Massachusetts and Patterson of Pennsylvania.

Indiana for Gray.

CHICAGO, June 17.—Chairman Taggart of the Indiana State Central Committee has issued a call for a meeting of the Indiana delegation Monday morning, when it will decide how they will vote. Taggart admitted the delegation was somewhat divided as to policy, but thought a complete understanding would be reached at Monday's meeting. William E. English of Indianapolis, the Vice Presidential candidate with Hancock, it is believed, represents the views of the Cleveland men of Indiana. He said he reckoned on twelve votes for Cleveland from Indiana on the first ballot, and eighteen for Gray. When asked as to the probable outcome, English said he thought Cleveland would be the nominee, though he would not risk a prediction at this stage of the game. If Cleveland and Gray are both found unavailable he thought the Indiana delegation would support Palmer of Illinois. W. A. Callop, a Gray delegate from Indiana, said Gray was a serious candidate and would be nominated by Senator Voorhees on behalf of the State of Indiana, and that Indiana would stay with him as long as there was a possible chance for him to be nominated.

Another Lone Highwayman. SAN ANDREAS, Cal., June 17.—The stage from Valley Springs to San Andreas was held up on the road near North Branch this afternoon by one masked highwayman who carried a double-barreled shot gun. He held the gun over the driver, Fred Wesson, beside whom were sitting two lady passengers, and ordered the box thrown out and then told the driver to go on. None of the passengers were searched. The robber wore a black mask and had on a pair of brown overalls. Immediately upon the arrival of the stage here, Sheriff Thorne and deputies started for the scene, which is in the vicinity of the previous robbery on the same road about two years ago. The iron box which contained most of the treasure was not molested.

A Murderer Succeeded. DUTCH FLAT, Cal., June 17.—Thomas Sanderson, the man who killed George Carpenter at Emigrant Gap on June 4th, was found dead to-day by G. T. Bartlett a few miles from the place of the tragedy. It is supposed he committed suicide by taking poison.

The saucy Silver State puts it this way: "We favor bimetalism—gold for money—silver for spoons."—Minneapolis Convention. "I concur in the above Republican enlarged use of silver."—B. F. Butler.

Why Is It So?

A correspondent asks these pertinent questions: "Why do restaurants for women always charge more and give better meals than restaurants for men? (One can get a substantial meal in the latter for a sum that makes no impression in the ladies' cafe.) Sandwiches are only half as large and double the price. Coffin-cakes are smaller, price larger, etc."

Material for a Bathing Suit.

"The nicest material," says a woman who has tried it, "of which to make a bathing suit is alpaca. It sheds the water and holds its own much better than flannel, which becomes water soaked and floppy. For this summer I am having a suit of dark gray alpaca, Turkish drawers and Russian blouse, brightening it with quantities of red braid."

Paper Costumes.

All the guests at a party given by Mine. Madeleine Lemaire, in San Francisco, came arrayed by special request, in outer garments made entirely of paper. The most admired costumes were white, with trimmings of gold. The men wore anything but comfortable in their stiff and cackling garments.—Yankee Blade.

A singular idea has taken shape in England in the formation of a home for ladies deprived through bereavement of support. The funds for its maintenance are provided by those who wish to show respect for deceased friends otherwise than by expending moneys on costly funeral flowers.

Be Sure

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me to buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, and was satisfied with it, and did not want any other."

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it! Mrs. ELLA A. Tynall, the mind reader, gave an interesting entertainment last evening in Armory Hall, to a very good audience. He performed several difficult feats in mind reading and demonstrated that he was able to do all he advertised.
The Times-Review says: In Tuscarora there is a good deal of affection felt for the People's party, which meets in National Convention at Omaha July 4th. Silver men know that that Convention will declare straight for free coinage and mean it.
N. H. A. Mason arrived here yesterday from New Mexico where he has been shipping cattle. A trainload of 15 cars arrived here yesterday for Mason & Bradley, Deeth. THE WASHOE COUNTY SILVER LEAGUE.

One Hundred New Members in two days.
Yesterday fifty-six new signatures were received by mail to the pledge of the Washoe County Silver League, which makes a total of 100 names received in two days.
At the present rate it will be but a few days when half of the voters in Washoe will be but a few days when half of the voters in Washoe will be members of the League. The people of this county, despite the ludicrous assertions of goldbug straight party followers, that the Silver League is composed of a mob of howling office seekers, are generally acquainted with the fact that the Washoe League is composed of citizens who mean business on the silver question, and who believe that after being fooled for twenty years by vain promises of ambiguous platforms, propose to try the effect of striking a blow directly for free coinage.
If the members of the Washoe County Silver League are all office seekers, then to-day about 700 voters of this county are candidates and the rest are declaring themselves at the rate of about 50 a day, which is as good an argument for silver as anyone would want, for with free coinage the offices in most cases would have to seek the man, as the latter would be making more money out of office and in a legitimate occupation than most of the offices would bring in. Give us free coinage and there will be no need to accuse anyone of being an office seeker.

FOSTER'S WEATHER FORECASTS

A Hot Summer Predicted.
Copyrighted 1892 by W. T. Foster.
St. Joseph, Mo., June 17.
My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from the 18th to 23d, and the next will reach the Pacific Coast about the 23d, cross the western mountains by the close of the 24th, the great central valleys from the 25th to 27th, and the Eastern States about the 28th.
A wave of cooler weather will cross the western mountains about the 26th, the great central valleys about the 28th and the Eastern States about the 30th.
From about the 20th of June till the 25th of August the excess of heat above the average of the season will be great. The first half of August will be much warmer than the last half of July.

A Sharp Practice

You call it when reading an interesting article and find at its close that you've read an advertisement. Don't condemn the advertiser. You won't read the ordinary advertisement. All advertisers feel this in common with the writer who takes this means of telling you that Simmons' Liver Regulator is the best medicine for malaria, impure blood, and the poisoned system. Equally as good for indigestion and biliousness.

Notice.

The Board of Examiners for Washoe county will be in session June 28th for the purpose of examining applicants for certificates as teachers in our public schools. The Board will meet for that purpose at High School building, in Reno, at 10 o'clock a. m., June 28, 1892.

A New Residence.

Wm. Anderson, the wealthy sheep man, is soon to begin the erection of a handsome $6,000 residence in Powning's Addition, just above Mrs. Norcross'. It will be another among the many pretty residences that already adorn that section of the city. The construction will soon be started. Mr. Anderson evidently has faith in our future.

Silver League Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the Washoe County Silver League at Armory Hall, Monday evening, June 20th, for the purpose of electing delegates to the State Silver Convention, to be held here on the 24th inst. A full attendance is desired.

THE S. F. & G. S. L. R. R.

Contract Let for a Survey on the Feather River.
The San Francisco Daily Report has the following:
"Surveyor K. Meddy of the San Francisco & Great Salt Lake railway has entered into a contract with the County Surveyor of Plumas county to survey a line for a railway through the valley of the north fork of the Feather river. The preliminary survey of the line is already made, and the rights of way are in fact in the possession of the Sierra Valley and Mohawk railway. It is certain that this line will run from the proposed line, unless Oroville makes the necessary inducements, for, while, if followed closely, the north fork of the Feather would lead to Oroville, yet the north fork will not be followed closely for miles above Oroville.
"While the middle fork of the Feather could be followed, and while a feasible survey has been made, the middle fork was found not to be as satisfactory for a railway in the matter of returns as the north fork would be. The rich Sierra and American valleys will be passed through by taking the north fork route. Hence it was selected. But the original survey does not pass all the way down the north fork and this is a very important fact that has never been brought to the public's attention before. The survey leaves the north fork just below Big Bar and runs through the hills by an easy grade to a point a few miles from Chico. This survey is that of the Union Pacific—for which, by the way, Mr. Kennedy was formerly a civil engineer and laid the lines for this particular survey—and also the Sierra Valley & Mohawk railway. The route from Big Bar to Oroville is deemed too expensive, taking into consideration the expense of grading below Oroville. The Chico survey is considered the best and least expensive of all the surveys in that part of the State, and that is the line the San Francisco & Great Salt Lake road will be built upon if the present design is followed."

THE WASHOE COUNTY SILVER LEAGUE.

Two men met on a train going west. They had known each other in the sixties and resumed acquaintance with a vim.
"An how's that bright boy of yours?" asked the city man of his old time friend.
"Pearl, pearl as ever, pard. I were goin to make a minister of him, but he got stage struck and took to that line as natural as a duck does to water, an I had to gin in. And he's the best shot in Montana."
"Took to the stage, eh? And has he been successful?"
"Successful? Well, I reckon he hez. Why, their ain't a man can be named in the same day with Bill. He kin drop a grizzly in his tracks without ever comin down from his perch."
"What is his role?"
"Roll? I don't savvy, pard."
"I mean what line is he in?"
"Oh, the Mounting an Valley line that runs to Gooseville through Catamount Grove and Grizzly Hollow. 'Taint fun all the time either, pard, when bandits is layin low for yer money or yer life."
"Ah, he does the sensational on the boards, I see. A low comedian?"
"Nothin low about Bill, old friend. He just sits up on the top of the Montany stage an drives his four-in-hand as easy as rollin off a log. Ez I said, the stage wuz right in his line, an he's a thunderin good driver."—Detroit Free Press.

The Baby and the Savage.

In the bone caves of the south of France have been found figures of reindeer, mammoths and men cut on horn or ivory, and evidently executed by artists contemporary with the Elephas primigenius. The men are represented with short, bent legs, and seem to stand or walk in a stooping manner, with the body bowed slightly forward from the hips.
Now pass your hand down the back of any infant under ten months old and feel the spine at the loin or lumbar region, where in the adult modern man the back is hollow or concave. You will observe that in the babe it is convex like that of a quadruped (a ten-month-old baby is practically a quadruped); and though the child can, perhaps, get on its legs with the support of a chair, it does not straighten its thighs and stand upright, but is bent forward in the same posture of the cave dweller, whose portrait has come down to us from the age just succeeding the last glacial epoch. If the support is removed the child falls forward and again becomes a pseudo quadruped.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Not So Green as He Looked.

A man entered a busy city office a few weeks ago and asked permission to use the telephone. He walked to the corner pointed out by one of the clerks, looked curiously at the instrument and after a furtive glance toward the other occupants of the room took down the receiver and gently whispered into it, "Hullo."
A broad smile passed around the room, and one of the younger clerks called out in patronizing tones, "Oh, no, uncle, hang up the tube, ring the bell on the right, then put the tube to your ear and talk to that little hole before you."
The man obediently hung up the receiver and turned toward the speaker. "Thank you!" he said dryly. "I am the general inspector of this telephone line."

A Remarkable Growth.

Wonderful things happen in Ireland as well as elsewhere, if the following can be vouched for, which is not likely. It is related that a gentleman in Ireland, on cutting open a potato at dinner, found in the center a half grown, around which the vegetable had grown. Though discolored, it was in a good state of preservation, and is now a pretty ornament to a watch chain.—Philadelphia Ledger.
